Would Investigate State Engineer's Plans with Relation to Ultimate Development of Centre.

LIVELY DISCUSSION AMONG MERCHANTS

The Planning Board, in the note considered Tuesday evening by the Joint Board, recommends a further study of Arlington's traffic problems with especial relation to the ultimate development of the Center, before the Boston Elevated Railway is approached again with reference to a loop. It estimates that the cost of such an investigation will be about $3,000 and offers to undertake further study of the problem, embodying estimates of costs of the different loops. It also offers to prepare an article for the warrant for the coming Town Meeting asking for the necessary appropriation.

After a study of the report prepared by Clarence F. Taylor, State traffic engineer, at the request of the Board of Selectmen, the Planning Board concludes that its outstanding features are "the conclusion that one

Five Streets Named In Annual Warrant

Requests for five streets are certain of a place in the warrant for the Annual Town Meeting. The nine for which the Joint Board voted on Tuesday night to ask appropriations are Brooks avenue, Egerton road, Margaret street, Melrose street, Milton street. Estimates on cost of building have been sent the abutters on Bailey road, Gloucester street and Phillips street. Hearings will be held on these.

Friends of The Drama Observe 10th Anniversary

A table beautifully decorated in pink and white, set with eight chairs and holding a birthday cake with ten candles greeted the two hundred odd members who crowded the Middlesex Sportsman's Association last night for the regular monthly meeting of the Friends of the Drama. The festivities marked the tenth anniversary of the founding of the club.

The company enjoyed a full evening which opened with the reading of some interesting reports by the secretary, Mrs. Arthur W. Sampson. Then there were two one-act plays punctuated by two play readings, which were followed by the anniversary ceremonies which, in turn, were followed by refreshments served by the Russell Hamlets.

Six of the eight places set at the table were occupied by five past presidents, and Mrs. John O. Matthews, the present incumbent. Mrs. Harold Turner, the fifth president of the club, was unable to attend but sent her best wishes. The sixth president, Mrs. George W. Bailey, sent a fine letter to take her place.

All of the past presidents at the table gave delightful reminiscences of their respective regimes and lighted the candles on the cake representing their terms of office. Those who spoke were Mrs. Cyrus E. Dallin, the first president and originator of the movement; Mrs. George B. C. Rugg, the second president; Mrs. Gracie Moody, the third; Mrs. Roscoe R. Perry, the fourth; and Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, the seventh. The latter gave her talk entirely in verse.

Mrs. Matthews introduced each of the speakers and following each address, the names of officers and board members serving under each

First Parish Alliance Bi-Centennial Meeting

Members of the Social Alliance of the First Parish church held a most enjoyable meeting in the vestry Monday afternoon. It was the society's observance of the church bi-centennial. Mrs. George Winn, who presided, wore a lovely old time costume.

In her paper, "The Story of the Women of the First Parish", Miss Virginia Wellington told something of the early ministers and particularly of her great grandfather, Rev. David Damon. The work of the women in early days, when many things were made for the minister's family, was described. Among the Alliance workers whom Miss Wellington mentioned were Mrs. James Bailey, Sr., Mrs. Reuben Hopkins, Mrs. H. H. Homer, Miss Nellie Smith and Miss Ellen Hodgdon.

The Alliance director was present and gave an interesting talk on the aims of the organization. Miss Isabelle Souster, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. J. Souster, sang a group of old songs and one of modern songs. Delicious refreshments were served by the social committee, whose chairman is Mrs. Herbert A. Rice.

PRODUCTION ACCOUNTING IMPORTANT FOR SMALL BUSINESS

Modern workroom practice based on following the makeshift methods of a self-developed institution are subjected today to as rigorous a system of adding as are the production sheet methods of a closely organized manufacturing plant. In fact, dollar for dollar, on manufacturing expenditure it is as important that workroom costs possess the extent of exact financing as would be the case with the production of a case with the production of a stable merchandise that it sold at a close price basis.

In like manner larger business are showing a similar trend toward stabilization of their plants for greater efficiency.

CHAIRMAN HAUSER NOT CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Many Urge Hollis Gott to Run for Selectman.

William O. Hauser, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, whose term expires in March, has announced that he will not seek re-election.

Many have requested Hollis M. Gott to run for the vacancy on the Board. So far Mr. Gott has not consented but so great is the popular demand for his candidacy that his friends hope that he will finally accept the nomination.

Mr. Gott went out of office as Selectman last March when he was defeated for re-election by Leonard Collins by a small majority. Citizens who are acquainted with his record, feel that they have never had a more conscientious and honest Selectman. It is these characteristics combined with his experience and intelligence that make him so desirable a candidate.

Warrant for Annual Town Meeting Open

The warrant for the annual Town Meeting in March is now open. All articles to be placed in the warrant must be in the hands of the Selectmen before their meeting on the evening of January thirtieth. Each article must have at least ten signers.

Impressive Ceremony At O. E. S. Installation

With impressive ceremony the recently elected officers of Longfellow Chapter, O. E. S., were installed Tuesday evening in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. Especially attractive were the decorations of silver and pink. A low fence around the platform with a gateway for an entrance, was covered with green and silver vine and at each station cyclamen were placed.

The installing officer, Mrs. Margery B. Chisholm, P. G. M., of Everett was gowned in black and white velvet and her marshal, Mrs. Mabel White, P. G. M., in red crepe. Mrs. Lillian N. Trueworthy, past matron of Washington Centennial Chapter,

Hold Memorial Services For Calvin Coolidge

Prominent Taxpayers Start Association

A Taxpayers' Association has been started in Arlington by a group of prominent citizens for the purpose of promoting non-partisan and non-political interest in governmental agencies as they may affect taxpayers of Arlington, primarily local expenditures.

At the preliminary meetings Harold L. Frost acted as temporary chairman and Charles M. MacMillan as temporary secretary.

The officers of the Association will consist of a President, Vice President, Treasurer, a Clerk and three Directors-at-large. To serve with these seven elected officers, there will be chosen a Director from each precinct of the town by precinct members of the Association.

Any Arlington property taxpayer is eligible to membership.

A meeting will be held in the near future to effect a permanent organization after which a large public meeting will be arranged with an interesting program.

Appoint Five Reserve Men to Police Force

At their meeting Monday night the Selectmen appointed five men from the reserve list to the regular police force. The appointees were: George Fitzgibbons, Millard Merritt, Arthur Clare, Gerald Dugan and Frederick Luscard. With the exception of Fitzgibbons, all have served as reserve men since April, 1931. Officer Fitzgibbons has served steadily since 1929.

As there were formerly eight men on the reserve list, there are now only three men left: Zwick, Robinson and Sullivan. It is thought that the present list of three will not be added to this year. At least two of the three selectmen seem to be against such a step, and Chief Archie F. Bullock is of the opinion that no more men are needed in the department in 1933.

Mrs. McCarthy Gives Picture to A. V. N. A.

Mrs. Denis A. McCarthy has presented to the Arlington Visiting Nursing Association in memory of her sister, Miss Mary A. Morris, a reproduction of the picture called "The Doctor". A. supervisor, graduated from the school. The picture hangs over Miss Fandel's desk.

Women Show Interest In Proposed Bills

The large attendance at the Legislative Conference of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs which was held in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall yesterday gave proof of the interest of women in proposed legislation. As Mrs. Harold B. Wood, president of the Arlington Woman's Club, whose welcoming speech was twice interrupted by applause, said, it showed that the women of the Federation are beginning to realize their responsibility in politics and that legislators would need to watch out for them.

Rev. Grady D. Feagan gave the invocation and Senator Charles C. Warren Greetings from Arlington. Mrs. Harold P. Johnson responded to Mrs. Wood's welcome and Mrs. Thomas G. Walker gave Greetings from the Legislative Adviser. Mrs. Wood led the community singing with Mrs. Edwin L. Allen at the piano. Mrs. Winship of the Winchester Fortnightly Club sang as did also Mrs. Ball, a visiting delegate. Representatives Nelson B. Crosby and Hollis M. Gott were

He has been a member of Sachem Council since 1920; from 1925 to 1929 he was chairman of Troop Eight committee; from 1922-25, chairman of the educational publicity committee; 1928 to date, member of educational publicity committee; 1932, chairman of older boy committee; 1932 to date, member of executive board and he is also merit badge counselor for Journalism.

Arlington People Heard Over WLEY

Vincent and Edward Harkins, Hugh Graham and Hyman Arbetter who impersonated the four Mills Brothers at the New Year's entertainment at Wyman's with Miss Laura A. Hallisey and John Hallisey who both did solo numbers, made their first appearance over the radio last Monday at WLEY at 7.45. They will again be on the program next Monday evening at the same hour. Miss Hallisey will also broadcast a piano solo and tap number.

This group will appear in person at the show, "Annette's Success," which is being sponsored by the Catholic Women's Guild at St. James Parish Hall next Tuesday evening. A children's performance will be given at the Hall on Sunday at 3.30.

"The budget of the school department as published in the local papers last week by the School Committee was a masterpiece of deceit and falsity," said Chairman Ernest W. Davis of the Finance Committee in his address to the members of the Arlington Kiwanis Club in Wyman's English Tavern yesterday noon. He also severely criticised the two members of the Board of Selectmen who voted in favor of the automatic increases in salaries ("step-rates") in the police and fire departments.

The speaker branded the published report of the school department as a very smart political play, but ventured to say that it would have the opposite effect from that intended. In the first place, he said, it was far from ethical to cause the budget to be published before the Finance Committee had even seen it. And in the second place the reported saving for 1933 of $98,573 was rank misrepresentation. The actual reduction, said Mr. Davis, was not more than $2,560.

Include $40,000 for High School in Savings

The school committee saw fit to include in the savings to be effected this year some forty thousand dollars which was spent on the new high school last year. The committee was very careful last year not to include that amount in a budget but kept it separate in another article of the warrant. This year, for the purposes of comparison, they put the item back in the budget of last year in order to show that that amount will be saved this year.

The ten per cent donations which the school teachers in common with

Tells Rotary About Work Of Board of Health

Alfred W. Lombard, chairman of the Board of Health, described interestingly the personnel and work of that body at the meeting of the Rotary Club, held Wednesday noon at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association. On the board are a full time agent, a milk inspector, slaughtering inspector, full time nurse, part time dental operator, physician and bacteriologist (on call) and a full time office clerk.

The board activities include the dental clinic which is open each school day from half past eight to half past eleven and the clinics, held twice each year, for the prevention of diphtheria. All communicable diseases are reported to the board and a record is kept of them. The board also exercises an oversight over Arlington patients in the Middlesex County Sanatorium.

Mr. Lombard listed the permits issued, the expenditures, the receipts and the appropriation for the past year. The cost per capita of maintaining the Board each year, he said is seventy cents.

SPORT SHOW FOR GRID FANS FRIDAY NIGHT

What looms as the biggest and most carefully arranged indoor sports show to be held in Belmont will be staged in the Town Hall tomorrow evening, proceeds from which will go to pay the medical expenses for injuries sustained by players in the last Thanksgiving Day football classic between the Belmont and Waverley town teams.

The large sporting public of the town will see a card of boxing, wrestling, singing, entertainment, sports movies, and a number of well known athletic celebrities that they will long remember. They will also witness the presentation of the Benton-Keville trophy to Captain Matthew Higgins of the Belmont team by virtue of his team's 13-6 win over the Waverley team in their 1932 encounter.

Jim Maloney, South Boston heavyweight and one-time victor over World Champion Jack Sharkey, will be on hand to referee the five exhibition boxing bouts arranged. The local exponents in the main art who will appear on this program are George Lawless, Frank Rizzo, Ed Mahoney, Frank O'Toole, Francis Costello, and Noble Ray.

There will also be wrestling exhibitions by local maulers. It is probable that the feature match will be between William Yetman and Norman T. Colburn, a couple of burly heavyweights who won their spurs at Boston University.

Master of ceremonies will be Jimmy Fisher, popular vaudeville entertainer, who will introduce "Dinny" Fisher, John McNeil, Joseph McAuliffe, Nick Bellantoni, and other local fun-makers.

The Harvard-Dartmouth and Harvard-Yale 1932 pictures and movies of the last Belmont-Waverley game as taken by Hon. Jay R. Benton will be shown with a monologue provided by John Sherry.

HIGH SCHOOL SWAMPS MELROSE ON HOME COURT

The Arlington High School basketball five had an easy time of it Wednesday afternoon at the High School gym, winning 39 to 14. With the exception of Captain Creelman, the Melrose lads were pretty weak. Clarke, the Red and Gray's big guard, was high scorer with 8 points. Creelman bagged a 7-point total.

After piling up a lead of 23 to 8 in the first half, Coach Johnson put in his second stringers, keeping in only Crovo. This combination played most of the last quarter, too. With three minutes to play, the Arlington mentor returned Hendrick, Clarke and Seretto to the game.

The local five played a fairly fast game, concentrating largely on a set of new plays. Wright started the scoring, followed by nice flips by Hendrick and Clarke. Creelman answered with two nice throws from the floor. However, the game showed itself to be a walk-over when Wright got another, and Seretto and Crovo each loomed one. The quarter ended, 11 to 4.

The High School, led by Wright, Seretto and Crovo, kept right on ringing them up. Livingston and Briggs of Melrose both scored, completing their team's tallying for the half.

In the second half, Pearce, under study for Wright and Greeley, led the attack, scoring 6 points. Creelman bagged Melrose's only score for the third period which ended, 31 to 14.

The last period was listless with little scoring, even after the entry of the first team. Arlington rang up 8 points to Melrose's paltry three. After the Arlington second team had built up a lead of 10 to 1 in the first half, Melrose gave up. The second half was merely an exhibition between the Arlington subs. The summary:

A. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM MAULED BY CANTABS

Arlington's aspirations for a second or third place in the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League took a nose-dive Saturday, when the hockey six was trimmed by Cambridge Latin, 4-2. To make things worse, even in victory Latin looked poor.

Gone was the Arlington attack of the week before, and with it, too, the defense. The local lads appeared sluggish and listless. One major fault was the forward line. Upon losing the puck after an attack, they failed to turn sharply and race back to help the defense. Rather, the forwards turned leisurously in a wide circle. Time and again Bullock and Lane had two and often three men of the enemy, who were not hurried or harassed by the returning Arlington forward line.

After eight minutes of listless hockey, Latin started the scoring. Desrosiers, the Cantabs, center on the second line, broke over the blue line to be checked by Lane. The puck slipped into the clear and Desrosiers, breaking away from Lane, whanged it home on a back-hand lift. Here was an example of the Arlington forward line's slow return. Lane checked nicely but the Latin man kept his feet and scored.

Sullivan answered with a nice rush and almost scored his own rebound when the Cambridge goalie fanned the puck completely in trying to clear. However, he finally connected on his second stroke and saved.

Latin Scores Twice

When the second period was about eight minutes old, the Cantabs, with Hall scoring, counted again. Things began to look dark for the locals.

Bullock finally got away on a nice rush. His shot bounded off the post, Collins rushed in and swept it into the net. Cambridge 2, Arlington 1. However, Latin checked again Arlington enthusiasm by scoring again not a half minute later, by intercepting a pass, jumping the forward line, and sweeping down on Lane who was all alone. Sakolan didn't have a chance, and the period ended with Arlington two down.

The only bright spots in the last period were a great save by Sakolan when two Latin boys passed the Arlington defense cold, and also a single handed smearing of an attack when Lane intercepted a pass. A nice shot by lighting Lane put Arlington within tying reach, but again Latin responded immediately. Arlington couldn't seem to muster up enough pep to stage what could be called a rally and the final gong sounded like a knell on A. H. S.'s league aspirations.

Arlington Powerful In Basketball Victory

At the High School gym Friday night the High School basketball team won an exciting game from Cambridge Latin. For the first half, the game was very close and hard fought. Gradually the Red and Gray built up an impressive lead in the second half. The game, however, was closer than the 25 to 14 score indicates.

Latin Leads at Half

The teams started right down to business, both playing aggressive games. The covering, however, was excellent so that scoring chances were few. Captain Hendrick made the first score for the locals on a nice shot. Latin answered with two nice shots from the floor, taking the lead, 4-2. The first quarter went on at a fast pace with excellent passes featuring, countered by fine defensive work. The rest period came as Wright made his first score, bringing the totals to 4 to 4 tie.

In the second quarter the Cantabs began to work ahead slowly. Cambridge broke the tie soon after the opening jump. Then followed another score when Broke, the opponent's center, broke away to hoop his shot. Wright bagged another, but Cambridge was scoring faster, working its way up to 11. Crovo got an ovation when he sank a long one as the half ended, Cambridge 11, Arlington 8.

Arlington Forges Ahead

With superb basketball the Big Red lads surged forward. Wright and Crovo scored from the floor, and Adams sank a free throw to put Arlington up, 13-11. Big Captain Hendrick broke away under the basket, adding two more points. Kishkis, Latin's best forward, made good a free try. The third quarter ended with a basket by Greeley after a pretty bouncing pass from his co-forward, Wright. Score, 17 to 12.

Latin fought hard but Crovo and company at defense were without error, except once when Walsh broke through for Latin's only score from the floor in the second half.

Husky Crovo crashed through with a beauty and we mean crashed. The Arlington forwards were well covered. Suddenly Crovo charged down the floor with the old football war cry, "Hip, hip!" The ball was flipped to him, and he rang it up. Hendrick made it 21. A basket by Greeley and another by Crovo, making him high man for the evening, put the finishing touches on a great game.

Arlington Seconds Lose

The second team didn't fare so well. The game was an even thing for the first half, Cambridge leading 14 to 10. But the local boys couldn't hold their faster moving opponents and the game was lost, 25 to 15.

Arlington A. A. Strong And Weak In Victory

Wednesday evening at Junior High East the Arlington Athletic Association won a shabby victory over the Quincy Wanderers, 43 to 40. In the first quarter the local club put on a blistering attack, featuring nice passing and shooting. For the rest of the game no word is bad enough to describe the A. A.'s game. In fact, they scored one huge point, a free throw by Gallucci, in the 4th quarter, while Quincy scored 14.

Winn, at center, started the scoring. Goodwin followed. A moment later Winn and Woodwin alternated. Gallucci made good his chance, being on the receiving end of the prettiest play of the evening. Winn was holding the ball at midfloor. Gallucci slipped down to the right. Winn looked and faced to the left and then let go a blinding pass to Ed that the Quincy defense never saw. Arlington had 12 points to Quincy's 0.

THE SPORT ADVOCATE

It is too bad the High School basketball five didn't have a harder game than Melrose in preparation for Chelsea tonight. The Chelsea lads are said to be good, so it ought to be a great game because the A. H. S. is strong enough to make any team have to be good to win.

Red is too common a color. We suggest purple, yellow, or a nice shade of pink. Both the High School and the Arlington A. A. lads had to change jerseys against Melrose and the Quincy Wanderers, respectively.

The Arlington A. A. is due for a sleigh-ride. Last week we pointed out how the club has shown fine basketball by feeding the ball to the man who is on his game for the night. Perhaps too much has been said of the "high man" for the evening.

At any rate everybody appeared to want to be high man Wednesday evening. Goodwin just plain lodged the ball when he got a pass near the basket. Gallucci was being "framed" by the Wanderers. The obvious boys for the receiving end were Winn and O'Keefe.

Winn made good three tries in the first quarter, after that his mates ignored him. O'Keefe was "right", too, but time and again he slipped down the sidelines, free, and yet no pass from Goodwin. Colclough turned in a good game. But since he is the best defense man, the club cannot afford to play him too far forward. So it looked to us as though it should have been Winn and O'Keefe's night.

The reason Referee Harrison ordered O'Brien off the floor was because he heard the Quincy boys say, "Get Gallucci". They did plenty, too, holding him to two baskets. But they forgot that fouls count, too, and the stellar forward made good all but one of his tries for a total of 6 single points.

This coming Wednesday the A. A. meets Lexington at Junior High East in its first Paul Revere League game.

The thing that any home team is liable to forget is that a visiting basketball team has to contend with a strange gym, which is different in size and has different lighting than the one in which it practices. Consequently the visitors may look poor for the first half. Thus a lead acquired then is to be expected and is often quite necessary.

The only thing that can be said about the Arlington-Cambridge Latin hockey game at the Garden Saturday is that the Belmont-Melrose set to was great.

It is hard to explain the collapse of the Arlington six. They looked promising against Rindge, but Latin, a fairly weak team, beat them soundly.

In the second half Latin scored only one basket from the floor, while Arlington hooped in 18—each team getting also one point on fouls. Latin had a scoring punch, too, so that makes Arlington's defense men, Crovo and Adams, something of a joke.

Posey, the big center, finally bagged one from the floor. The first quarter ended, Arlington 22, Quincy 7, a fifteen point margin.

The defenses of the visitors tightened in the second quarter. Both teams rang up 7 points. Colclough converted on a pass from Winn, and a neat dribble through two Wanderers. At the half-time the score read Arlington 29, Quincy 15.

From this point on nothing good can be said of the local boys. Every man was for himself. Quincy on the other hand went to work, hacking away at that lead. Not much progress was made in the third period. They hooped in 11 points against Arlington's 13, a loss from the scorer's standpoint, but a decided gain in their team play and shooting.

While Arlington rested on its 42 points in the last quarter, the Wanderers fought hard. O'Brien finally found the basket and looped three throws from the floor. Cederstrom, Johnson, and Leburky did their bit and the score stood 42-38.

O'Brien fouled Gallucci with about a minute left to play. Ed made his throw good. Harrison, the referee, ordered O'Brien off the floor, but since the subs had all gone to the showers, he was allowed to continue, and promptly looped another on a long toss. Then the timekeeper, showing the best piece of work for the period, blew the whistle.

The second team of the Arlington club won its game from a wild and woolly bunch, called the East Boston Center Cubs. Charlie Crocco, Leary and Fawcette turned in good games.

The summary:

At any rate gone was the A. H. S. attack. The Sullivan line had power, the Lax line speed and cleverness. Now, none of these qualities is apparent.

Of course it is hard for a coach to build up new combinations in one short week. Perhaps in another week Coach Downs will have solved the problem, the key to which was surely not there Saturday.

Ford, Belmont's great center, defense man, in fact the whole team, completely surrounded Melrose to the tune of 2 to 0. With him checking at center, the Melrose attack looked sick; with his rushes, the Melrose defense looked sicker, or rather, more sick. No small factor in the victory was the great improvement of Belmont's wings.

We have found the definition for the longest two minutes in the world—while Ford of Belmont is off the ice for misbehaving. That boy has got to behave himself if Belmont is to win.

Well, Cambridge Latin and Arlington are quits so far this winter. The A. H. S. basketball five' offset the hockey defeat with a victory Friday night.

"Husky" Crovo showed fine improvement. Against the Alumni he was just another football player, but Friday he was in there, scoring 8 points and covering well.

Captain Hendrick has also stepped up into his own. The rebounds are arriving where they should—in the tall boy's hands.

Observe Exchange Sunday

An Annual Exchange Sunday is one of the practices which reveals a fine spirit of community cooperation among the churches of Arlington. Because of local programs, it is not possible for all the ministers to participate, but each year the majority of the Protestant churches of Greater Boston enter enthusiastically into the spirit of this annual exchange Sunday. The committee of the Arlington Ministers Association make no previous announcement of who the exchange preacher will be in a given pulpit. But they do make it a rule not to assign a minister to a church of his own denomination. While the ministers are going visiting the committee urges the congregations to be in their usual places to welcome their guest preacher of the day. To make this scheme of community cooperation effective, everyone should be at home in his home church next Sunday morning.

THE SPORT ADVOCATER

The much heralded Arlington-Brookline High track meet last week was called off. It seems that on Friday Brookline didn't have the boards set up, and Saturday it rained. We think Brookline got themselves out of something.

Tuesday Doc McCarty took his boys down to Harvard for an informal run with the Crimson yearlings. His comment on the results was, "I've got a fine bunch of boys. What fighters!"

Higgins' external appearance resembles a recruit in the Chinese army. There was a little mix-up at the end of the 60-yard dash and the local boy took a skid on the splinters. He lost a pound of flesh from his chin, knees, and right elbow; but he won the dash.

Garfield placed third in the dash, but his big feat was in the 300. He won his time-heat handsily. Eddie Farrell, the Harvard coach, caught him at 36.0 seconds. Not bad, and a sophomore too. He has never run before, yet already he is one of Doc's sweethearts. Walter McLean, also known as Dinger, won his heat in 36.3.

Hall, Doc's big, powerful middle-distance man, tied for first with a Harvard lad in the 600, clocked at 1 minute 24 seconds, while Red Hanlon won the 1000 in a pair of sneakers at 1:32. Foster didn't run.

McFarland, Arlington's timber-topper, has been running the low hurdles in practice. At Cambridge they just use the highs in the winter. Nothing daunted, he took a flunk at them—a nose-dive and tail-splint being the result.

Kangaroo Graf tied for first with the bar at 5' 7". If he had a better chance to practice (there is no pit at A. H. S.) this boy would be reaching 10 inches easily.

With his street clothes on Crovo took a couple of flings with the 12 lb. ball. His best toss measured about 46 feet. Doc says that if Swartz of Brookline does 52 feet, then Crovo will do 53. That's what the Husky thinks of Swartz.

In the informal meet with Medford last week perhaps we didn't say enough about Red Hanlon. Recall that Red finished a few yards behind Kozwick in the 500. Kozwick is the champ of them all at his distance.

High School News

Report cards for the second term marking were given out last Thursday. The honor roll will soon be posted in the home rooms.

The cause of much suspense and excitement at the High School is small white placards, placed in various places around the school, and on which are printed, "Friday, the 13th?" and "What!" It is suspected that a special paper, called the "Cracked Mirror", is going to be issued.

An important Senior Class meeting was called last Thursday to discuss and vote on class activities. It was voted to have no special class photographer, to have Dorrety of Boston as class pin and ring maker, and to retain the same printing company, which last year's class had.

The High School has been presented with a radio victrola by the town to be used in the music room.

A special assembly was held last Friday in the old auditorium for the senior, junior and sophomores girls. The principal speaker was Mrs. Cranney, a representative of the General Foods Co.

"The Conquerors" At The University

Embracing the historical high-lights of our nation's growth during the last sixty years, "The Conquerors," co-starring Richard Dix and Ann Harding, coming to the University on Sunday, is the first picture to reach the screen with an optimistic thought for the current economic problems. The picture goes back to the business slumps for 1873 and 1893 and graphically discloses the inevitable recovery that followed each one. Here is a production that should revive hope in a nation that has repeatedly weathered the economic storms to return in each instance a stronger and better nation than ever before. It is celluloid education with an entertainment. In an hour and a half one is privileged to see parading by, the most significant sixty years of progress of America, and, the amazing and beautiful story of Caroline, whose belief in her young husband Roger, equalled only by her belief in the future of the United States.

Herbert Marshall, Sari Maritza, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland play the leading roles in "Evenings For Sale," a Viennese musical romance, the companion feature.

"Central Park," featuring Joan Blondell and Wallace Ford, has been scheduled as the attraction for Thursday. It is unique in that it catches a cross section of the varied life that pulses daily through New York City's great playground. It has caught the spirit and the vivid coloring of its cosmopolitan life and emboldened it on the screen in a glowing romance. It takes a boy and girl, broke, stranded, hungry and weaves about them a drama that carries them through a series of adventures with a band of crooks, police, loiterers, outcasts, and wealthy merrymakers, that make up an ordinary lifetime of stirring events.

Will Rogers, America's greatest humorist, plays the title role in "Too Busy to Work," the companion feature. Based on Ben Ames Williams' favorite story, "Jubilo," it is of a type different from any of Rogers' previous starring vehicles. It concerns a penniless wanderer who searches for his wife and daughter and the man who absconded with them while "Jubilo" was away at the front.

CASE OF AMEDEE LACASSE COMES UP AGAIN MONDAY

The case of Amedee D. Lacasse, who was arrested for drunkenness after hitting and killing George Sporos and seriously injuring another, and who was sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined ten dollars in the lower court for driving so as to endanger and for defective brakes, and appealed, was continued until Monday. The case was to have come up yesterday, but because of new evidence presented to the District Attorney by Chief Bullock, was postponed again.

Women's Club News

Arlington Woman's Club

The program for Guest Night of the Arlington Woman's Club Thursday evening, January 19th, in Robinson Memorial Town Hall is one designed to entertain rather than to instruct. This was purposely decided upon by the program committee, the members of which felt that this was the time to put aside the problems that today are harassing everyone and in a lighter vein endeavor for a night, at least, to drive dull care away. The exceptionally fine talent engaged for that evening includes the "Wolverine Singers," a group of fourteen male voices with Walter H. Kidder, baritone, as soloist. The next attraction is Marjorie Moody, soprano soloist, whose beautiful voice has been heard in concert from coast to coast and most favorably commented upon by leading musical critics in large cities. As the Los Angeles Times says, "When Marjorie Moody sings it is worth while to listen." This will not be Miss Moody's first appearance in Arlington and those who recall her beautiful voice are anticipating hearing her again. The other talented artists that will appear on the program is Marion Benzie, reader and impersonator, who with a "pair of spectacles, a bit of lace gives suggestions from real life that amuse and make you laugh." As one newspaper said, "her programs are different."

By vote of the entire club, the refreshments will be omitted at this time but the usual reception by the president and officers will be held at the close of the entertainment. The social committee with Mrs. Morton Bradley, chairman, has this in charge and it is hoped that many will linger, not over a plate of ice cream or a cup of coffee, but in a true spirit of friendliness among club members and their guests.

It is requested that club members desiring tickets for guest night (which are unlimited) will purchase them of Mrs. Harrison Evans, auditor of the Arlington Woman's Club, before January 19. If a self addressed and stamped envelope is sent with fifty cents enclosed, Mrs. Evans will mail tickets. Also a telephone call, ArL 9331, will reserve tickets.

The first musicale in a series to be sponsored by the Music Committee of the Arlington Woman's Club comes on the morning of January 25th at the home of Mrs. Harold B. Wood. There is a limited number of tickets which are free and can be obtained from members of the music committee, Mrs. Ralph C. Currier, chairman.

The president and corresponding secretary of the Woman's Club—Mrs. Harold B. Wood and Mrs. Archibald Loveys, attended President's Day at the Heptorean Club in Somerville Monday. Mrs. Franklin P. Hawkes and Mrs. Herbert A. Snow represented the Arlington Heights Study Club.

The Arlington Heights Group of the First Baptist church will meet at the Mt. Vernon street home of Mrs. John Gunn next Wednesday evening. Mrs. Fred Bowen will be the assisting hostess.

Next Tuesday, January 17, is American Red Cross Sewing day for the members of the Park Avenue Congregational Guild. Members are requested to come early. Bring a box lunch. Hot coffee will be served at noon. The meeting will be held in the Parish House.

The Friday Social Club will hold its next meeting on Friday afternoon, January 20, at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. Adrian Robinson, 91 Westminster avenue. Mrs. E. E. Soderquist, Mrs. W. E. Stevens and Mrs. W. M. Joseph will be assisting hostesses.

The Arlington Women's Republican Club will meet at Wyman's, 430 Massachusetts avenue, on Friday, January 27. Following the luncheon at 12.30, Mrs. Mary Livermore Barrows, member of the House of Representatives from Melrose, will address the club.

The Bradshaw-Friendly Union of the Orthodox Congregational church will hold an all-day sewing meeting next Monday. In the afternoon there will be speakers for the Arlington Welfare and music in charge of Mrs. R. D. Greene. Supper will be served by Mrs. Thomas Pitre's Group, after which reports from local Girl and Boy Scouts will be heard. Miss Gratia Eagleson's Group will have a "Pound Party Auction."

The annual meeting of the Samaritan Society will be held next Monday in the Universalist Parish House.

Tonight is the Guest Night of the Winchester Fortnightly Club. William Abbott Robinson, a former resident of Winchester, will speak on "Ten Thousand Leagues over the Sea."

Next Tuesday evening at eight the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Club of Boston will meet at the Boston Young Woman's Christian Association. There will be a reception to new members and the guests will be the sons and daughters of members.

Mrs. Franklin Walker will give a short history of the club and Dorothy Herne will read. Cards and dancing will follow. Mrs. E. Maud Charlton is chairman of the reception and Mrs. Jack A. MacDonald and Mrs. B. W. Yull are chairmen of hostesses.

Tickets for the next Book News and Reading, which will be given by Mrs. Charles A. Hardy, January 23rd, may be obtained of Mrs. Herbert Stephens on Guest Night, January 19th, at Town Hall, or at the Junior Garden Club meeting January 20th in the Junior Library Hall at 3.30 p. m.

A guest on the program will be Dr. S. M. Lindsay of Brookline, who, under the sponsorship of the division of inter-racial unity of the state federation, Mrs. W. I. MacAulay, chairman, will speak on "The Art of Living."

Troop 2

Last week the troop performed the very impressive ceremony of passing the "Torch of Scouting" on to the ten new Tenderfoot girls. The troop stood in the clover or scout pin formation. Eaglet Scout Lieutenant Ruth Bullock held the tall green candle or "torch of scouting" in the beginning. With fitting words she passed it on to first class scout, Jean Long; she to second class scout, Charlotte Morrill, then to Tenderfoot Evelyn Wigren, who lighted the individual candles of the newer scouts.

This week the girls spent the time in sewing for the Needlework Guild.

Troop 3

Troop 3 met Monday at the Old Town Hall. The regular class programs were held. Plans were made for a trip to the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. tomorrow for swimming. Girls in this troop will be glad to hear that Miss Alice Frost, their lieutenant, is nearly well again.

Troop 4

Girls in Troop 4 had a wonderful time visiting the Fire Station last Wednesday enjoying to the full the equipment and paraphernalia that such a building affords. Bulb growing as a troop project has been started, either hyacinths or daffodils being chosen. These, at Easter time, will be given to the sick.

Troop 7

This troop has just joined the Junior Garden Club and also the Needlework Guild and are trying to get their mothers interested. We think that will be an easy undertaking.

Troop 9

Troop 9 opened its meeting with a dramatization of the first Girl Scout Law, "A Girl Scout's Honor is to be Trusted." Patrol 1 consisting of the following scouts brought out some very striking points. Dorothy Donnelly, Eleanor Ewe, June Ogden, Margaret Ohlund, Thelma Rubner, Barbara Swanson, Constance Goud and Helen Clark. Each week a patrol is to dramatize one of the laws.

Constance MacAllister, Lois Whitman, Eleanor Ewe and Ruth Klingner have been acting as Patrol Leaders for the past three months and have done well but in order that other scouts may have the same opportunity, it is decided to make a change every three months. The new Patrol Leaders will be elected at Cedar Hill on Saturday. The bulb planting project was explained in detail and the girls are anxious to get started on this wonderful work.

"Beehive" has been formed and one meeting a month is to be turned over to sewing for the Needlework Guild. Girls who have already passed sewing were elected to the "Queen Bees" and are going to help with the cutting and planning of the garments. At each meeting of the "Beehive," one of the "Queen Bees" will read an interesting article from either the Nature Magazine or the Trail Maker or tell a good story.

An all day hike to Cedar Hill is planned for Saturday. Scouts will have an opportunity to pass fire building, fire prevention, second class cooking, and judging height if time permits. Tenderfoot instruction of woodcraft signs, knots and nature are also planned. Scouts are meeting at 9 o'clock and will be back long before dark.

Troop 10

Captain MacKusick held a Court of Honor meeting at her home last Monday afternoon when plans were discussed and formulated for January.

Troop 12

Twenty-two of the girls of this troop met last Saturday at Cedar Hill. They had a delightful day and all passed their woodcraft tests. The meeting Wednesday was brimful of interest, the girls playing knot tying games, singing, and getting ready for their investitures as a new scout troop which is to be very soon.

Troop 13

Knots were the problem of the evening. In making rope circles and racing for beans which turned out to be paper clips, some were baffled and some were merely puzzled. The Junior Citizen merit badge with Mrs. McCann and Laundress with Mrs. Marsh followed while others worked on First Class signalling serenaded by the Legion band.

Captain Towne and Lieutenant North will entertain the members of the troop Court of Honor at a supper meeting next Wednesday night at the headquarters. Plans will be discussed for a re-registration campaign, an overnight camping trip the 20th of this month and the troop program for February.

The much belated Athlete badge course will once more make an attempt to complete the requirements on Monday, January 16 at 1.45 at the Old Town Hall. The following Scouts have passed several events and hope for a speedy completion: Phyllis McGoun, Louise Freeman, Virginia Hoffman, Florence Kellogg, Marcia Kidder, Louise Lester, Elizabeth MacDonald, Thelma Soderquist, Darthea Spofford, Dorothy Sutherland, Hope Wells, Gertrude Duffy, Elsie Howatt and Natalie Johnson. Troop 13 is looking forward to a bright future in spite of its traditionally unlucky number. — Louise Lester, Scribe.

Errol Young of troop 13 and former member of troop 8 is to be the accompanist for the English Country Dance class on Thursday evenings. Errol's playing at the Folk Dance Festival last spring for the English sword dance was very favorably commented upon by visiting instructors.

The Leaders' Association will meet at the Old Town Hall at 7.00 o'clock on Monday for a short but very important business meeting. Please be prompt. The group will leave for Boston and Radio Station WBZ immediately after the meeting.

Winter Day Camping

Rain, mud, cloudy skies, slickers and rubbers in abundance but not a sign of snow and ice for our Saturday trips. But "a good time was had by all" is surely our slogan at Cedar Hill. Thirty-seven girls from six troops hiked, signalled, laid and followed trails, lashed, sang, played innumerable games and last but not least ate a hearty lunch.

Mrs. Towne was assisted by Bernice Hayes, Beryl Sullivan, Mary Lovroni, Mary MacGilvray, Betty Hughes, Alie Frost and Louise Lester. Transportation was provided by Mrs. Griffin, Mrs. Dallin, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Hoffman, and Mrs. Yeames. From Troop 1 were Charlotte Curtis, Ruth Dallin; troop 2, Phyllis King; troop 12, Priscilla Sweet, Henrietta MacPhee, Ethel Swedlund, Mabel Ellis, Arlene Wambind, Elza Hakron, Violet Hazlett, Carolin Baldelli, Phyllis Nasman, Mary Delaney, Dorothy Perkins, Dorothy Hayward, Gertrude Rooney, Beverly Stone, Florence Pearson, Winifred Kent, Virginia Leighty, Carol Taylor, Lydia Foster, Julia Taylor, Marion Philmore; troop 5, Juanita Peterson; troop 13, Virginia Hoffman.

The next day camp will be January 21st. Applications in this issue of the Advocate are due at the office not later than Thursday, January 19th.

MRS. EDWARD L. MORRILL

Mrs. Alice Agatha Morrill, the wife of Edward L. Morrill of 36 Coolidge road, passed away last Friday. She was born in Southville, thirty-eight years ago, the daughter of Levi and Julia O'Brien Pellican. She is survived by her husband and by two children, Jean and Edward. The funeral was held Monday morning and a high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. James church by Rev. Maurice J. O'Connor, D. D. Burial was in St. John's cemetery, Hopkinton.

EXPERT OPINION

Taxes were stressed as the root of local economic troubles at the meeting of the Commercial Division Tuesday noon. Rent is the merchant's big expense item. To meet this bill two cents must be added to a pound of this and three to a pound of that. This means that if a high rent is paid, high prices must be charged to make a profit. One merchant testified that it takes four months' business to pay the rent for which, according to budget experts, only one quarter of the income should be used.

Rents on Arlington stores have already been reduced somewhat. They must be reduced even more if our merchants are to continue to make living profits and, accordingly, are to stay in business.

Yet, property owners should get enough rent to pay taxes, as well as upkeep and insurance. It follows that if rents are to come down, taxes must first be lowered.

Consequently, efforts to reduce town expenses will meet with the approval of citizens who are looking for the town's best interests. Few curtailments will be suggested which will not seem harmful to some group, few which will not meet with opposition from some of us. We must, however, forget our special interests and think only of the common good—the lower tax rate which will result from these curtailments.

To some of us the proposal to turn off the street lights for two hours each night may seem false economy. The possibility of crime with its resultant expense, may seem to more than offset the few dollars that will be saved.

But, says our expert in crime prevention, the chief of police, there is no danger of an access of crime during the hours of darkness when it is proposed to turn off the lights. There are, he tells us, very few burglaries after two in the morning. The professional burglar, who is the most efficient, no longer works so late. He is too conspicuous then, too apt to be questioned as to his reasons for being out, particularly in a town where there is a large police force and radio scout cars constantly patrolling the streets. He prefers to operate earlier in the evening when his presence will not attract attention, or even in the daytime when meter readers and others are entering houses on legitimate business. The possibility of hold-ups may be disregarded as there was but one hold-up in town last year.

Neither, the chief believes, will there be any danger of an increase in the number of automobile accidents during the hours the lights are out. He thinks that a driver, if the lights on his car are good, can see much more clearly by them on a dark street than on one where lights make confusing shadows and reflections. Needless to say, traffic late at night is light even on the busiest streets.

So, turning off the lights may be true economy. Certainly, after such expert testimony we should all be willing to try it. If, contrary to the chief's expectations, it should result in an increase in crime and in traffic accidents, it would be possible to have them turned on again.

Two other ways of reducing the lighting budget have been suggested. The lights, one citizen points out, are turned on at night while it is still light and they are not turned out in the morning until broad daylight. By turning them on a little later and off a little earlier, a half hour's current might be saved.

The other suggestion is that the Electric Illuminating Company be asked to reduce its rates. Newton and Boston, it is reported, have already succeeded in securing such a reduction. If they can, why can't we?

AN ADMIRABLE SPIRIT

Both the School Committee and the Library Trustees have shown an admirable spirit of cooperation with the effort to reduce the 1933 budget requests in all town departments.

Not only has the school committee agreed to the contribution of ten per cent of the salaries of its employees but it has made a further reduction of nearly fifty thousand, which makes its budget nearly thirteen per cent lower than that of 1932. Instead of the ten requested. This has been done in spite of the fact that the Brackett School and the addition to the Senior High School were completed during 1932 so that their upkeep must be added to expenses. In spite, too, of the constant increase in the school population, which has made necessary a consolidation of positions in order to keep down the cost of instruction.

The library budget was reduced last year. The dream of building a new branch at the Heights was abandoned and a voluntary cut was made in the budget. This was made possible by increased efficiency and by a reduction in the number of books purchased. Now the budget has again been reduced. When the amount received from the dog tax and that from fines, which is turned back to the town, are taken into consideration, the reduction will be more than ten per cent. This reduction was made in spite of an increase in circulation so great that there would naturally have been expected a request for a larger sum to cover the cost of operation.

Both schools and library are of inestimable value to the town. Their products are intangible. We cannot see them as we can the smooth new pavements, but they are nevertheless, more essential to our well being than the pavements. On the schools depends the future of our town. The schools of today will determine the Arlington of a generation hence.

The library's service has been well expressed by Newton D. Baker—"To all thinking citizens the public library walks side by side with the public school. After studying social and economic problems for many years I have come to the conclusion that the only solution for most of them lies in education—the kind that promotes disinterested thinking and suspended judgment. Any community which maintains a well-administered, adequately supported public library, provides one of the best means for acquiring such an education."

The school committee and the library trustees have done their utmost to aid in lowering the tax rate. We can trust them likewise to do their utmost, even with the handicaps which their budget reductions must cause, for the education of those on whom the town's future depends.

Here and There

The Friends of the Drama plan to put on one of Gilbert and Sullivan's masterpieces at their next monthly meeting, and the other night we made ourselves thoroughly unpopular by declining to take part. Like the flowers of spring, the fact that your correspondent couldn't begin to sing the role offered, seemed to have nothing to do with the case. Sometimes it is even harder to convince the public that you are no good than it is to prove to the boss that you are worth your salt.

The desk sergeant at Arlington Police Headquarters must have smiled when he wrote the following item on the police blotter: "Sunday, 5:20 P. M. — Charlie Caterino, 65 Mystic street, reports that he did have two gallons of choice cherry wine in his cellar, but last night it disappeared."

Last week the Selectmen and the Police Department were featured in this column. This week they spring into prominence again. At their meeting Monday night the Selectmen made five appointments from the reserve list to the regular force. But the Selectmen did not promote all the reserves; so naturally there is dissatisfaction.

First of all, however, there is that citizen who thinks that the Selectmen are overstepping the bounds of economy by making any appointments this year. These are answered as follows: the reserve men were on the pay roll anyway. Their appointment as regulars means an increase in pay of fifty cents a day. When the 10% donation which affects all town employees goes into effect, the fifty cent raise will be turned back to the town, and the men will receive exactly what they got before. Then, too, it is not planned to fill the vacancies on the reserve list. The Chief, himself, says that he needs no more men in his department at the present time.

There was some opposition to the appointment of Frederick Luscerelli. It was said that he had not been on the reserve list as long as one or two others; he had lived in Arlington for only a short time, and a lot of other things. But Luscerelli was recommended by the Chief because he is most important to the police department. Since there are nearly four thousand citizens of Italian birth or extraction in town, it is an asset to have a man on the force who can read, write, speak and understand Italian. Already he has come in handy several times as an interpreter.

The Citizens' Committee, which is one of the strongest powers in local politics, met Tuesday night and elected a chairman, Charles M. Sawyer. The work of organization was under way immediately. Things seem to be looking up.

But rumors of who is going to run for selectman and other town offices seem surprisingly few. There is nothing at all definite to tell, but the juiciest bit of hearsay yet is the whisper that Chairman William O. Hauser of the Board of Selectmen will not choose to run.

"We must get Arlington people to trade with the local merchants. Get taxes and rents reduced. Get a reduction in rates from the public utility companies," said Chairman Charles F. McManus at the meeting of the Commercial Division of the Chamber of Commerce the other day. That last statement in particular strikes a responsive chord. Almost everyone likes to take a crack at the public utilities any time, but there is no time like the present.

The trade with the local merchant idea brings to mind a peculiar incident. Just this week a lady of our acquaintance went into a neighboring chain store and bought ten cent's worth of peanuts. As it happened the manager himself waited upon her. Said the lady, "I should not even spend ten cents with you. I really should take my dime to some local merchant."

"You are absolutely right," replied the manager. "This company pays as little as it can to its help. It grinds down the manufacturer."

JUNIOR GARDEN CLUB ORGANIZED WITH 54 MEMBERS

The Arlington Junior Garden Club held its first meeting last Friday in the Junior Library Hall with fifty-four boys and girls enrolling. Mrs. Herbert Stephens, president of the Arlington Garden Club, which sponsors this new club, greeted the children and introduced Mrs. Leroy Shaw who will direct the club. The club will have its own officers. Mrs. Shaw outlined several projects and then introduced Mrs. Robert Parmenter, who interested the audience with screen pictures of birds, trees, flowers and scenery. She informed the members that their club is one of the first Junior garden clubs to be formed in Massachusetts.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, January 20th.

It is driving the independent storekeeper out of business. It takes money spent here right out of town. I would not blame the people if they never spent a cent with us, but just the same, I would have to lock the doors to keep people out of the store."

There it is — straight from a chain store manager himself. It looks as though the depression has at last reached college athletics. Cornell has announced that it will discontinue intercollegiate competition for the rest of the college year. New England Cornellians may be spared the pain of explaining why the Cornell track team could not beat Harvard in the Garden this year. Harvard victories have been getting monotonous anyway, and besides, we wouldn't have the ghost of a chance of digging up the price of a ticket.

STATE AND LOCAL
PRAYER LEAGUES

123 Pleasant Street,
Arlington, Mass.
January 10, 1933

Editor,
Arlington Advocate

Dear Sir:
Two letters have lately been published in a local paper stating that at the present time the Massachusetts Prayer League and Arlington Prayer League have no connection whatever. As a founder of the Arlington Prayer League and a member of the Board of Control of the Massachusetts Prayer League, I think I can explain this better than anyone else.

Our Arlington Prayer League is a tiny group which meets once a month. We usually have ten or twelve present. Central Massachusetts papers in big headlines recently referred to the Massachusetts Prayer League as an "Arlington religious movement" combining the Huckleism of the Episcopal and Lutheran Churches, with the cottage prayer meeting of the Evangelical denominations.

As far as Arlington is concerned these groups are the best of friends, but are in no way connected.

Very truly yours,

N. N. HARTWELL.

Women's Union Members Enjoy Talk on China

Members of the Women's Union of the First Baptist church were well repaid for braving the disagreeable weather Monday afternoon by hearing a fine address on China. The speaker, Miss Ellen Peterson, has given nineteen years of her life to educational and evangelistic work in that country and hopes to return there soon. She is a woman of charming personality and greatly interested her audience as she told them particularly of the Union Girls' School where she was principal for ten years and which grew under her leadership from one hundred to four hundred pupils.

Mrs. George Miller sang two solos with Mrs. Arthur Gilmour at the piano. Special guests were the women who have joined the church in the last three months. Tea, following the meeting, was in charge of Mrs. Henry Bradbury with Mrs. M. Tolman, Mrs. Leslie Steeves and Mrs. Edgar Robinson assisting, all from the Lakeview Group.

The next meeting will be held February 13th.

WOBURN POLICE ARREST DRIVER IN ARLINGTON

The Woburn police arrested a driver said to be under the influence of liquor in Arlington at three thirty Sunday morning. Arlington headquarters was notified that a Woburn scout car was chasing a driver through Lexington and the pursued was headed toward Arlington. One of the Arlington cars was sent out but arrived only in time to assist the Woburn officers in arresting the driver who was overhauled on Wollaston avenue at West street. The car was registered to Paul A. Mulcahy, of 118 School street, Waltham.

Chief Bullock says that it is the popular belief that a police officer cannot go outside his own town to make an arrest unless he is accompanied by a police officer representing that town. But, as a matter of fact, said the Chief, the police of any Massachusetts city or town can make an arrest anywhere in the state following a continuous pursuit. If it had been necessary, the Woburn scout car could have chased the alleged drunken driver all the way to Great Barrington and made the arrest.

Vote to Protest Proposed Turning Off of Lights

Members of the Civic Improvement League of Precinct 13, at the regular monthly meeting held last week Thursday evening at the Peirce School voted to enter a formal protest against the recommendation of the Joint Board to have all lights of the town turned off two hours each night. In the discussion which preceded the vote the proposal was characterized as an invitation to burglars to visit Arlington two hours each night. It was also voted to ask other organizations to make a similar protest.

The guest speakers at the meeting, which was well attended, were Clarence A. Moore, chairman of the Board of Assessors and Charles M. Sawyer, of 39 Highland avenue, vice-chairman of the old Finance Committee of Twenty-One.

Mr. Moore outlined the duties of the Board of Assessors and told how the members arrive at the valuation of each individual piece of property. He said that the practice of selling foreclosed property for a low figure on the part of the banks resulted in reduced values of adjacent property, but the banks had recently stopped this practice.

Mr. Sawyer in his talk on the transportation problem presented in detail the plan of the proposed traffic loop at the Center. He said the Elevated was willing to consider any plan upon which a majority of the people of Arlington could agree. He favored the plan submitted because he believed it would benefit the entire town. The plan failed to arouse much enthusiasm, however, and in the open discussion which followed there was much outspoken criticism. It was admitted that under this plan the Heights would undoubtedly receive less frequent service than heretofore and that the Elevated would guarantee nothing in the line of bus service.

Mr. Moore, in reply to a question, stated that any curtailment of service which affected ready accessibility to Boston would naturally tend to lower property values. Another disadvantage advanced was the fact that Heights patrons would be forced to transfer at the Center.

Both speakers were given a rising vote of thanks at the conclusion of the meeting.

Local Representatives Appointed to Committees

Arlington's representatives at the State House have received their committee appointments. Representative Nelson B. Crosby, who is serving his second term, has been named by Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the House, a member of the committees on State administration and on Water Supply.

Hollis M. Gott, whose first term this is, has been appointed on the Taxation Committee. This committee promises to be a very busy one, as between forty and fifty bills have been filed which it will have to consider and on which it will hold hearings.

Senator Charles C. Warren has been named on three committees—Metropolitan Affairs, which is of especial interest to Arlington; Education and Judiciary.

Civics and Education Committee Has Meeting

The first of a series of afternoon meetings sponsored by the Civics and Education Committee of the Arlington Woman's Club was held Monday afternoon in Junior Library Hall. Mrs. Herbert Stephens, chairman of the committee, presided and introduced the speakers.

Miss Margaret Roberts, school health education supervisor, told what is being done in the schools to ensure the health of the pupils. Mrs. Lucinda F. Spofford, librarian of the Robbins Library, spoke most interestingly on "News About Books and Authors", telling a little about several books, among them "Nurses on Horseback" by Ernest Poole; "Wonder Lies Adventure", by E. Alexander Powell; "Earth Horizon" by Mary Austin, and "Inheritance" by Phyllis Bentley.

Tea was served by the committee whose members, besides Mrs. Stephens, are Mrs. Philip Burt, Mrs. Horace W. Clark, Mrs. Edward A. Daventport, 2nd, Mrs. Clarence H. Dempsey, Mrs. J. J. Donahoe, Mrs. Melville Foster, Mrs. Spofford, Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter and Mrs. Franklin H. Wood.

MRS. NORTH FAILS TO RECOGNIZE CUSTOMER

Mrs. Sophie North, who for many years has conducted a hairdressing business at 14 Wyman street, had a call the other day from a gentleman who claimed her acquaintance. Mrs. North, however, failed to recognize him, even when, removing his hat to display an unusually fine head of hair, he told her that he came from Hyannis.

And no wonder, for the only Hyannis man of Mrs. North's acquaintance was baldheaded, and it was six months since she had seen him. Further conversation, however, disclosed the fact that the man with the luxuriant thatch and the baldheaded man were one and the same. When he called earlier in the year he had taken away with him several bottles of Mrs. North's hair restorer together with detailed instructions for his wife as to its application. He had come back later for more restorer but Mrs. North missed his visit so she did not know that then his head was covered with soft down. It was the last bottles of restorer that had finished the miracle.

Bishop Desmond to Speak At St. Agnes Sunday

Rev. Daniel F. Desmond, the newly consecrated bishop, will speak at all the masses at St. Agnes church next Sunday. Bishop Desmond has assisted at services in St. Agnes church and so is well known to its parishioners. Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty, the pastor of the church, was on the faculty when Bishop Desmond attended the seminary.

MOVES INSURANCE BUSINESS INTO LARGER QUARTERS

The George Y. Wellington & Son Insurance business has been moved from its old quarters at 661 Massachusetts avenue to 637 Massachusetts avenue. The proprietor, David A. Wilcox, is very well satisfied with the change, since he now has larger and better lighted offices and is on the avenue side of the building.

The business was originally started in 1826 and is the oldest firm in Arlington. A few years later George Y. Wellington took it over and after his death his son, Frank Y. Wellington, carried it along until his death in 1928. The younger Wellington was associated with the business for more than fifty years, and did much to enlarge it to its present proportions. Mr. Wilcox bought the business in March, 1928, and has been active ever since. He lived in Woburn, where his brother still has an insurance office. From 1920 to 1928 Mr. Wilcox traveled out of Baltimore through the Middle West for the Maryland Casualty Company. Since his arrival in Arlington he has been active in public affairs. He is now president of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce and is Past President of Post 39, American Legion.

TOWN TOPICS

—Trefoil League members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Conroy, of Cypress road, last Friday evening. Plans for future activities of the League were discussed after which the members presented several stunts which were both interesting and amusing. Delightful refreshments were served and the evening was enjoyed by all present.

St. Agnes Church on Medford street was the scene of a slight fire last Sunday afternoon. No service was in progress at the time but the fire which started in a partition in the boiler room was discovered soon and was promptly extinguished by the fire department after an alarm had been turned in from box 3113. A police detail stood guard that evening because it was necessary to throw open all the doors to allow the smoke to escape.

The Arlington Police Department was apprised of its first stabbing case for 1933 when the Supervisor of Symmes Arlington Hospital notified headquarters Sunday night that a wounded man had just been brought in. Investigation showed that the victim was Rosario Corella, 43, of 89 Decatur street. He was suffering from knife wounds about the face. He named Joseph Oppedisano, of Decatur street as his assailant. The latter was promptly arrested and brought into court Monday morning where he was held in $5000 bail. He was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Corella was not seriously injured and will recover, the authorities believe.

Delicious refreshments were served by the assisting hostesses Mrs. Frederick Fish of Belmont, Mrs. John Wamsley, Belmont, and Mrs. Philip French of Somerville.

all other town employees will make this year also figured prominently in the claimed saving of more than $98,000. "Did the School Committee work for a ten per cent donation? Did they advocate? Did they want their teachers to make it? No!" said Mr. Davis. "Yet, they are now willing to take full credit for it and include it in the amount they are going to save the town in 1933."

Turning back to the Selectmen, the speaker said that all three Selectmen were present at the meeting of heads of town departments at which it was unanimously voted not to grant any increases in salaries, automatic or otherwise, and yet last week the majority of the Board turned right around and voted the automatic increases for the police and fire departments.

May Recommend Ten Per Cent Cut
The Finance Committee, said its chairman, was inclined to recommend a flat ten per cent cut this year, but decided that if the town employees agreed 100% to the proposal of a ten per cent donation and the town departments did not grant any increases in pay rates, the committee would be satisfied. All the town employees now working have signed the agreement 100%, but the Selectmen have broken faith. It is certainly possible, said the speaker, that the Finance Committee will come to the annual town meeting with a recommendation for a flat 10% cut, in view of that breach.

But, said Mr. Davis, if the rest of the town employees do not want to get a flat ten per cent cut, it behooves them to go to those policemen and firemen effected by the increase and ask them not to accept it. If the firemen and the policemen refuse the pay rate increase, then the Selectmen will be obliged to reverse their vote. Otherwise, they will be unable to do so, even if they wished, because of the Civil Service laws.

Praise for Some Departments
All that Mr. Davis said was not in criticism of the town departments. He pointed out that the Board of Public Works was cut $125,000 in its budget last year under protest, yet when the vote was passed the board concurred and kept strictly within the appropriation without appreciable loss of efficiency. This year the Board of Public Works comes in with requests which are 11% less than the appropriation of 1932.

Mr. Davis also praised the Board of Assessors who last year were the only ones to go through with the recommendation of the Finance Committee and make reductions in salaries.

At the beginning of his talk Mr. Davis said that the town will probably save $200,000 this year in salaries and running expenses. But he pointed out that even that amount might not allow a reduction in the tax rate. Two hundred and twenty thousand dollars would represent a reduction in the tax rate of about four dollars were it not for the fact that the town goes into 1933 with far less in unexpended balances than last year, and the fact that the town has been receiving less and less from the state and last year actually had to pay out money to the state. Arlington's share in the elevated deficit was $27,000 last year. This year it is anticipated that it will be more than three times that amount. Property valuations may be further reduced by the Assessors. So, taking all those factors into consideration, there may be an actual increase in the tax rate despite a saving of over two hundred thousand dollars.

Important to Keep Credit Good
But, said the speaker, the tax rate is relatively unimportant. The average Arlington tax payer pays on about $6,000. A decrease of one dollar in the tax rate would represent a saving of only $6 a year to the individual tax payer.

The important thing is to keep Arlington's credit good, said Mr. Davis. We must be able to borrow money in anticipation of taxes when we want it in order to meet running expenses. And it is important to keep the interest rate low. The way to do that is to keep decreasing annual expenses.

At the beginning of last year, said the chairman, Arlington was paying about five and a half percent for money borrowed in anticipation of taxes. But after the town meeting in March when the bankers saw that Arlington was making a real and honest effort to reduce running expenses, the interest rates which the town had to pay dropped steadily until .91% was finally reached. If the town does not make further substantial savings this year, that rate will begin to rise again, which would be a real loss of money to the town.

Arlington People in Winchester Concert

There is much local interest in the concert to be given by the Winchester Choral Society on Tuesday evening, January 17, at 8 o'clock, in the town hall, Winchester, because of the number from Arlington who are members of this splendid musical organization, the personnel of which includes singers from cities and towns throughout the Mystic Valley.

A most interesting and worthwhile program will be presented by a chorus of one hundred trained voices, including selections by such master composers as Brahms, Bach, Gounod and Edward German, as well as others of a lighter nature. The society's superb male chorus of forty will sing three selections, notable among them being Frederick Field Bullard's virile "Sword of Ferrara," a repeat number done in response to numerous insistent requests.

In the three short years of its existence, the Winchester Choral Society under the masterful direction of J. Albert Wilson, has advanced to the forefront of choral groups in New England. Its programs have included many numbers sung only by choruses of unusual ability and vocal resources. Critics have acclaimed the Society's tonal beauty, fidelity to pitch and remarkable balance, never failing to comment upon the superb low tones of its bases, who approach the notes achieved by the deepest Russian voices.

As guest artist, the Society will present a former Somerville boy, Alden Edkins, whose beautiful lyric bass voice has carried him far among the promising young singers now in New York.

Arlington is represented by Mrs. W. E. Doble, Mrs. John Mellen, Frances E. Fletcher, Marion E. Stetson, Dorothy Marston, LeRoy P. Bezenon, Arthur Clare and Clarence D. Blake.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Wallace of 49 Melrose street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen M. Wallace, to George D. Goodwin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodwin of 68 Grandview road. The engagement was announced at a bridge party last week Wednesday, when the guests were showered with rose petals, each of which bore the names of the engaged couple.

Miss Wallace is a graduate of Arlington High School, 1929, and is now employed as secretary by the Berkshire Life Insurance Company. Mr. Goodwin is a graduate of Wentworth Institute.

SILVER BEAVER AWARDED TO GEORGE B. C. RUGG

scoutmaster, Troop 7; Phillip W. Alsen, scoutmaster, Troop 10; Peter J. Jerardi, scoutmaster, Troop 5; William T. Anderson, troop committee, Troop 1, and Guy E. Jones, scoutmaster, Troop 2.

At the business meeting which followed the dinner and the presentation of Scouts Harold L. Frost of Brantwood road was re-elected honorary president. Bartlett T. Miller of Belmont was chosen president; George W. Butters of Lexington and Louis H. Chace of Watertown, vice-presidents; Prof. Bancroft Beatty of Belmont, scout commissioner, and Warren K. Hadley of Lexington, treasurer. Arlington is represented on the executive board by Rev. Francis X. Bransfield, Dr. F. P. Hawkes, Mr. Rugg and Charles M. Ward.

Whale Boat Given Sea Scouts
Mr. Rugg in his report of the activities of the older boy committee, announced the offer to the Sea Scout Crew of a gift of a whale boat from the United States Navy Yard at Charlestown. The Sea Scout Crew has been working under the leadership of Oscar Peterson, who is a member of the committee. A room in Mr. Peterson's house on Mountain avenue had been turned into part of the deck of a ship, but the interest of the boys was waning because of the nearness of fresh and salt water and the lack of a boat. Now the task of the committee seems to be to find a place to keep the boat if it is accepted, accessible alike to crew and sea.

In the near future the committee plans to call together all former and present scouts coming of age this year and discuss an organization. They will present some Massachusetts man well known for his work along civic lines and for his general attractiveness to young men. He will give the boys a short talk on what a twenty-one-year-old chap can do to help in the present national emergency.

Treasurer's Report
The report of the treasurer, Rufus W. Blake, showed a cash balance on hand December 31, 1932, of $326.62. The total operating expenses for 1932 were $9,050.36 and the income $7,921.57, showing an excess of operating expenses over income of $1,128.79.

The finance committee reported that in Arlington to date $991.50 had been collected in the campaign for funds. W. T. Chamberlain is in charge of solicitation here.

Scout Executive Richard A. Mellen expressed appreciation of the work done by the Field Scout Commissioners, among whom are George W. Greenlaw, P. K. Griffin and Ralph Hogman, as well as to Oscar B. Peterson and Harold Meyer. He spoke especially of Mr. Greenlaw's service in Concord and Waltham, and also of the work done in the office by Miss Mabel Tashjian and Miss Agnes McGrath.

Among the 55 Scouts present at the meeting were the following from Arlington: George Kink Rugg, George W. Greenlaw, Edward A. Birch, George R. Wright, Peter J. Jerardi, William T. Anderson, Oscar B. Peterson, Robert W. Sprout, F. P. Hawkes, George B. C. Rugg, Roy R. Johnson, Philip W. Alsen.

—The Orth Chevrolet Company, 326 Massachusetts avenue, has been fortunate to secure the services of Charles L. Burke, who has lived in Arlington all his life and has made many friends and customers. He has joined the sales force of the Orth organization.

Cliquot Club Caps Mean Money for Unemployed

For every cap from a bottle of Cliquot Club the Cliquot Club Company of Millis will pay one cent cash to the Arlington Social Service Unemployment Relief Committee. Chief Tierney has offered the fire station as a receiving depot for these caps. Everyone is urged to collect the caps and take them to the fire station. Restaurants, clubs and other organizations can help by collecting and saving them.

During the Christmas season the committee on Christmas seals sent seals to many people. From many there have been no returns, either of seals or money. It is urged that one or the other be sent at once to the Arlington Welfare office on Massachusetts avenue. The returns are far below the needed amount.

The Welfare Council needs children's shoes very badly. Several children of school age, both boys and girls are practically shoeless. "Perhaps your boy or girl has outgrown their shoes," says the Council appeal. "Even if you have only one pair, send them to Welfare Council and that will help one child at least."

Women Show Interest In Proposed Bills

presented to the gathering and spoke briefly.

In the morning, when there were 194 attending, the Bill designed to further benefit neglected children and the bill to limit the sale of prison-made goods to state institutions were considered. Mayor Rickard and Russell of Cambridge spoke in favor of the bill to place school departments on the same base as other municipal departments and J. Burr Merriam, chairman of the Framingham School Committee, in opposition.

After the luncheon which was served to 129 at the First Baptist church, Harry D. Newcombe, baritone, accompanied by Howard Slayman, sang. John Plaisted, assistant clerk to the Commission on Stabilization of Employment, spoke in favor of the bill for unemployment insurance as recommended by that commission. Mrs. H. M. Russell spoke against it.

William Fellows, of Lakeview, asked permission to speak from the floor in opposition and was invited to the platform. The bill, he said, was at variance with the "Spread the Work" campaign which was effective in factories long before the newspapers began to talk about it, as it made necessary a certain length of employment before compensation could be secured. He also believed that it would lessen cooperation between employer and employee.

The bill, he said, only set up another bureau, of which there are already more than enough. He believed it would work like the compensation bill which had a $5,000 tax the first year but now requires a $20,000 one. Taxes and legislation have already driven textile factories out of the state. There should be no further such legislation without much thought.

Mrs. D. Fletcher Knight, chairman of the Legislative Committee, had charge of the arrangements, which were most efficient. Her committee—Mrs. Charles A. Alden, Mrs. William A. Forbes, Mrs. Frank C. Fowler, Mrs. G. Franklin Gruber, Mrs. John F. Marshall and Mrs. Frank G. Volpe had charge of the registrations, assisted by the Prudential Committee.

Through the courtesy of G. O. Anderson and Sons each officer wore accacias. The same firm decorated the stage with ferns, small trees and pink cyclamen and placed butterfly roses, acacia and daffodils in yellow bowls on the luncheon tables.

Charles M. Evans Buys Farm at Wilmington

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Evans of Appleton street have purchased the Pine Ridge farm at Wilmington and will operate a poultry farm there. They will be greatly missed by Arlington friends who are wishing them the best of luck in their new venture. They have been very active in clubs and community work in this town but since Wilmington is but a short distance friends hope they will still keep their interest in Arlington. They left their Arlington home this week.

Professor Thresher At Searchlight Club

Professor Thresher of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was the speaker at the meeting of the Searchlight Club held yesterday afternoon at the Ravine street home of Mrs. A. Lawson. Professor Thresher gave the history of events that led up to the depression and his opinion of the way out of it. He does not believe that the way out will be by technocracy.

In the open forum which followed his talk he answered questions concerning technocracy on which he is an authority.

Arlington Kiwanis Activities

Meets Thursdays at 12.15 p. m. at Wyman's

The first regular meeting of the year 1933 under the regime of president-elect F. P. Hawkes got under way promptly at 12:15.

The guest speaker of the meeting was Mr. Davis, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Town of Arlington. The fact that a unanimous vote of the club allotted him 15 additional minutes to speak proved the interest of his subject. Without mincing words he calmly set about explaining the need of economy in all branches of Town government. He touched on the 10% cut of budgets, the cause and effect. All in all it was an impressive talk which the members absorbed with great interest.

Next week our speaker will be Jim Gallagher, Lieutenant Governor of Kiwanis of this district. His talk will prove of great interest to all the members as we will get a true picture of what our neighboring clubs are doing, and he no doubt will leave a few thoughts about Kiwanis International.

HEARD AT THE MEETING

Jim Keane (Town Engineer, but in Kiwanis a Tax Collector) approached "Monty Tolman" for his weekly 10c fine for a missing badge—"Monty—let's see that badge—golly it's yours—where did you find it?"

LIVELY DISCUSSION AMONG MERCHANTS

James J. Holt desired to instruct the secretary to send a letter of thanks to the trustees of the Robbins Memorial Library, to the firemen and to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company for their cooperation in decorating for the Christmas holidays. Mr. Holt said several visitors had expressed their compliments on the appearance of the town. This is one town and the merchants at the center are not trying to steal trade from other sections. There are four hundred businesses in town and the Chamber should have a membership of two hundred.

The special guest from the Heights section was Joseph V. Goddard, who felt that the activities of the Chamber would help the Heights and East Arlington as well as the Center. "Rents are too high," he said, "and I am obliged to add one cent to this item, two cents a pound for this, etc., to pay the rent." Effort should be directed at the town hall to reduce expenses and taxes so that rents may be lowered.

John A. Bishop suggested that more facts be obtained before approaching landlords concerning rents and the following committee was appointed by the chair to investigate: J. V. Goddard, chairman, Timothy Vaillandourt and A. W. Platine. "Action is imperative because we do not do things until forced to do them," said Mr. Bishop. He further stated that 1933 would be the most critical thus far, that merchants must make a profit to exist, that they must cut expenses and establish themselves on a firm foundation. For an open meeting the subjects should be announced in advance so as to stimulate study and intelligent discussion which should be conducted in terms of the general good and not for special interests.

Robert H. Patterson, manager of the Arlington Gas Light Company, felt that the funds of the Association were dissipated and that they should be paid out for the direct advantage of the Chamber. All should be spent to better conditions and to pay dividends to the merchants. "Budget it and spend it correctly," he begged.

It was his firm conviction, he said, that there was a better method of advancing the merchant's interest than to sell the idea of buying at home through advertising in the local newspapers.

David Wilcox, proprietor of Geo. Y. Wellington and Son, and president of the Chamber of Commerce, discussed the dues and exhorted his hearers to make a concerted effort on an advertising campaign.

Hiram Colton, proprietor of the Menotomy Hardware Company, was of the opinion that the charters of the public utility companies do not allow them to sell goods. He stated that the city of Boston and the city of Newton had obtained reductions in the rates for electric current and that Arlington should do the same.

Both Rufus Blake and A. W. Platine believed that rents were too high, the former stating that it required four months rent to pay the taxes and that all should work to bring about a reduction of taxes.

It was a lively meeting, the members expressed themselves freely and many felt that it was one of the most profitable in recent months.

of the inadequacies of the present transportation arrangements is the lack of coordination of the various transport systems; that a street car loop should be so located as to provide facilities for such coordination; and that it should be at or near Arlington Center."

Rev. Grady D. Feagan Speaker at W. C. T. U.

The monthly meeting of Arlington Union Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held Friday in the Ladies' Parlor of the First Baptist Church. The new president, Mrs. Charles J. Stiff, presided. A large number of members and visitors were present.

The soloist, Mrs. Galt F. Parsons from Lexington, a noted radio singer, beautifully rendered "Little Damselle" by Novello, "O Savior! Hear Me!" by Gluck, and "In the Time of Roses" by Reizhardt.

The Children's Branch under the direction of Mrs. William Goudie reported two meetings held last month. One took the form of a Christmas party when a basket was packed for a needy family in Arlington.

Twelve comfort bags with contents valued at $1.00 each were sent Seamen's Bethel. A number of members helped at Flower Mission three days before Christmas when 750 baskets were distributed to the needy, the sick and shut-in.

The guest speaker, Rev. Grady D. Feagan took as his topic, "Education," calling attention to the fact that the number of students attending high school and college has doubled since 1920. This calls for teachers and leaders with high ideals and opposed to alcoholic liquor in any form.

Tickets are on sale for the victory luncheon, January 16, Ford Hall, Boston. Voted to hold meetings till further notice at First Baptist Church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Blevins, Mrs. E. W. Estabrook and Miss Mabel Payne.

The new officers besides Mrs. Stiff are Mrs. Estabrook, vice-president; Mrs. William Augustus, secretary and correspondent; Mrs. William P. Aylward, treasurer; Mrs. William E. Goude, in charge of children; Miss Isabel Waite, flower mission director.

president, were read by the historian, Miss Grace Parker. Miss Parker also read the list which comprises the charter membership of the club. A number of the original members were present last night.

Both plays were very well done, and favorably received by the audience. The first was "Moonshine," coached by Miriam Hendrick Cahalan and played by Earle Lewis, a new member, and Ralph Cessna. The second was "Mansions," coached by Mrs. John K. Berry, Jr., and played by Mrs. George W. Yale, Amy Lawrence, a new member; and George Dunham, another new member.

The staging of each play which was as usual done by Howard Dawes assisted by a capable and large committee was especially effective. Both times the curtain was raised there were rounds of applause. Miss Nancy Kennedy handled the makeup.

The play reviews given between the acts were by William F. Homer, Jr. and John K. Berry, Jr. They reviewed "Counselor at Law" and "There's Always Juliet," respectively.

Many Enjoy Lecture By Mrs. Robert Parmenter

A large number of guests attended the meeting of the Garden Club held Wednesday afternoon in Junior Library Hall, to hear the lecture by Mrs. Robert Parmenter on her recent long motor trip. In her always, delightful manner she took her audience across the continent and up to Alaska, showing many unusual pictures of the Canadian Rockies and of this country's national parks. Those of Lake Louise, Yosemite Falls and the Grand Canyon were outstanding in exquisite coloring and beauty.

Of special interest to the Garden Club were the pictures of a hanging wall garden near Seattle and of a row of zinnias, two miles in length, planted along a railroad track by a Nebraska garden club.

In order to show she was a real dirt gardener, the speaker wore a picturesque and becoming garden costume of India print. Mr. Parmenter assisted in the program by operating the lantern.

At the close of the lecture the president, Mrs. Herbert Stephens, surprised Mrs. Parmenter by presenting her with a tiny pine tree from whose branches hung ten silver dollars for the Federation Forest Fund.

The president reported that the plants sent to shut-ins at Christmas gave a great deal of pleasure.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses—Mrs. Francis Marion, chairman of the hospitality committee; Mrs. Philip Eberhardt, Mrs. Joseph Emerson, Mrs. William Fellows, Mrs. Norman Griffith, Miss Cairn Higgins, Miss Emma Ladd, Mrs. Frederick Johnson and Mrs. Benjamin King.

The installation was preceded by a supper at the Universalist church. The decorations here were of silver and pink with Japanese hangings on the walls. Following the supper, gifts were presented to Mrs. A. W. Platin, the retiring worthy matron; to Frederick Wood, the retiring worthy patron, and to Mrs. Wolmer and Mr. Truworth by their officers and friends.

The evening closed with a dance during which punch was served by Mrs. Edna Mitchell.

HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR CALVIN COOLIDGE

speech, his honesty and his frugality. His political formula, said Mr. Barber, was a simple one, "Do the right thing."

An impressive memorial service took place in the Park Avenue Congregational church. The Quartette and vested choir, under the direction of Mrs. T. Gordon Smith, beautifully rendered appropriate musical selections and the sermon by the minister, Rev. Arthur Dyer, was based on Isaiah 32:2. Four words were chosen to characterize the former president—versatility, humility, stability and immortality. The service closed with the singing of Mr. Coolidge's favorite hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

Rev. William Shaw, pastor of Calvary M. E. church, spoke of the reconstruction of society which will enable us to rise to new heights of wisdom and organization. "If and when that day shall come," he said, "it will be found that one of the factors of its coming was Calvin Coolidge—the man, the citizen and the statesman."

Rev. Rubens Rea Hadley at the First Universalist church spoke of Coolidge as the outstanding apostle of New England thrift and quoted one of his parishioners, a confirmed Democrat, as saying of him, "The people believe he is honest and they trust him."
